Legal Assistance

Community Advocacy & Legal Centre (CALC)

CALC provides free legal help to people with problems with income programs, housing, senior’s issues, employment, consumer and debt, and human rights, among others. You must live in Hastings, Prince Edward, or Lennox & Addington counties or Tyendinaga Mohawk Territory and be living on a low income. CALC does not provide legal help on criminal or family law/court problems – for help with these problems contact Legal Aid Ontario (see below).

Visit CALC’s website for legal information: <http://communitylegalcentre.ca/legal-info/incarcerated-persons/>

Legal Aid Ontario (LAO)

Legal Aid Ontario provides legal services for people living on a low income. Legal help is provided for problems with domestic violence, family law, immigration and refugee law, and criminal law.

For help while in police custody - Brydges hotline

- LAO’s Brydges duty counsel service provides legal advice for individuals who have been detained or arrested.
- Tell the police officer you would like to speak to duty counsel. The officer will call the hotline, and duty counsel will call to speak with you within 30 minutes.

For help while in custody at a Quinte Detention Centre (QDC) - Inmate Line

- People who need assistance while in QDC can call LAO’s inmate line at 1-866-883-9665

For help appearing in court - Duty Counsel

- Duty counsel are lawyers at courthouses who can help people who need immediate legal support.
- They can provide advice and information and, in some cases, represent someone who would otherwise be unrepresented.
- It is highly recommended that you speak to duty counsel before going into the courtroom.
- Belleville Family Duty Counsel: 613-962-4422
- Belleville Criminal Duty Counsel: 613-962-9106 ext. 2750

The fastest way to get legal aid help is to call LAO toll-free. LAO accepts collect calls.

Call the LAO Client Service Centre from Monday to Friday, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. at 1-800-665-8258. www.legalaid.on.ca
